

AUTOMOTIVE

EUROL.COM

At Eurol, we produce premium lubricants that are OEM certified. Our extensive range of products is suitable for both combustion engine vehicles as well as hybrid and electric models. As a lubricant specialist, we are aware of the challenges you face as a professional. Therefore, in addition to our products, we also offer various services such as expert product advice and training.

Enter the brand and type of vehicle on our oil advisor and you will immediately receive appropriate product advice.

Eurol Specialty producten

Drawing on our deep expertise in application, we've developed the Eurol Specialty lubricants using SYNGIS Technology. This cutting-edge technology synergizes lubricating and protective qualities, delivering superior performance in even the toughest conditions. Choosing Eurol Specialty products translates to improved efficiency, significant cost reduction, increased productivity, and a minimized environmental impact. Our team is ready to schedule a live demonstration to showcase these advantages in action.

eurol.com/specialty

technology
SYNGIS

MANUFACTURER KNOWLEDGE

From engine oils and transmission oils to coolants, sprays, and greases, we manufacture all our products in-house. Our advanced production facility enables us to produce and respond quickly while maintaining high quality. With our extensive experience as a manufacturer, we have broad expertise in applications and can provide you with professional advice for a range of lubrication related issues.

SERVICES

Our experienced team is ready to assist you with advice, technical and commercial support, and the latest industry developments. Discover our wide range of services, workshop materials, and services on our service page. Scan the QR code.

Get more return from lubricants

Lubrication is becoming more and more of a specialty. Therefore, it is crucial for a garage owner to be able to rely on the knowledge and support of a manufacturer. With Eurol Service Point, we offer a contemporary garage formula, with technical and commercial support, tailored to your needs.

ABOUT EUROL

We are a Dutch family business, active since 1977, with a passionate team and a modern production environment. Our products are available in more than 90 countries and in various segments including heavy duty, agri, industry, automotive, and racing. For commercial and technical support, Eurol offers Dealer and Service Point formulas, extensive digital tools, and the dedication of our specialists. This ensures that customers worldwide are guaranteed the best products, excellent service, and maximum returns on lubricants.

Dakar Winning Quality

The Dakar Rally has been an ultimate testing stage for our products for years. Our collaboration with international racing teams contributes to the further development of our products. Partly thanks to the use of the Eurol Specialty racing line, multiple Dakar victories have been achieved.

Use the interactive lubrication points tool to see which products we offer for the most essential parts of your vehicle.